JSC Avtoframos (Renault Russia) and CPFilms®, a Unit of Solutia, Announce Partnership Agreement to Make LLumar® Window Film Available on Autos

109 Showrooms and Dealers to Participate Throughout Russia

MOSCOW (March 25, 2008) – Solutia Inc. (NYSE: SOA) today announced that its CPFilms® subsidiary, in cooperation with its local LLumar® brand window film dealer Special Equipment, will team with JSC Avtoframos, Renault’s Russia commercial and manufacturing subsidiary, to offer dealer-installed LLumar solar and UV-control window film for three top-selling Renault models. LLumar is a stylish, optically clear film that provides privacy and protects vehicle interiors from harmful UV rays.

Under the agreement, JSC Avtoframos will purchase LLumar window film kits for its Logan, Symbol, and Megane models. The kits will be distributed from JSC Avtoframos’ central warehouse in Moscow to its dealer chain that includes 109 showrooms and service centers throughout Russia.

“We are proud to partner with Renault’s JSC Avtoframos,” says Kent Davies, president of CPFilms. “Renault is one of the top global automobile manufacturers meeting Russia’s demand for new cars, and we look forward to working together to offer the benefits of LLumar to its customers,” he adds.

Training for sales and service staff and technicians at the 109 JSC Avtoframos dealerships already has begun. “The training sessions are based on an intensive program for the installers,” says Alexander Proskuryakov, sales manager for CPFilms Russia and CIS regions. “Because of this training and certification program, consumers will be able to receive professional installation and a certified warranty. We will begin rollout for product installation in April,” he adds.

Proskurykov says only about 35 percent of cars in Russia have window film, but it is a growing trend as people see that the appearance, performance, and safety of their cars can be enhanced through professionally installed window film. By adding LLumar to their windows, consumers gain protection from the damages of solar radiation. LLumar also thwarts forceful break-in attempts by smash-and-grab thieves and delivers an added safety element by helping to hold shattered glass in place in the event of a side-impact collision.

CPFilms is the world's largest producer of window films, most of which are sold under the LLumar brand name. These films, which are professionally installed and warranted by the manufacturer, are available from a global network of LLumar dealers. In Russia, LLumar is distributed by Solarex. For more information, go to www.llumar.com.
